Heads civic drive for junior college

Dudley Morrison leads committee in bond campaign promotion plan

Dudley Morrison, prominent business man and civic leader, has been named as general chairman of the civic committee for the new junior college, it was announced this week. Mr. Morrison is a past president of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce.

The purpose of the committee will be to seek passage of the bond issue for a new jaysee on October 30. Members will be composed of merchants, club leaders, and business men interested in obtaining a new junior college.

Since each Santa Ana business man has to be canvassed personally, the committee will not be completely organized until early next week. The names of members will be announced at that time.

NOON DANCE TODAY

College hep cats will gather today in Bungalow L for the first noon dance of the year, sponsored by the executive board.

The associated student body has purchased many new, popular discs for this dance

ENROLLMENT REACHES 730

As the enrollment figures continue to rise in both the day and night courses, the total for Santa Ana Junior college now stands at 730 students, according to Miss Genevieve Humiston, registrar.

Enrollment is running on a close parallel with last year, although the number of ex-service men on campus is steadily increasing with 27 former members of the armed forces among the Associated Student body.

"Service men may enter junior college at any time and will be permitted to make up work which they have missed in order to receive credit," Miss Humiston stated.

Assembly to show police methods

Under the direction of Officer Morris, the public relations department of the Orange County Peace Officers Association will present the next assembly Monday on the jaysee lawn.

The program will be divided into three parts, a demonstration of police radio equipment, a discussion of juvenile delinquency, and a demonstration of finger printing.

Jaysee program heard over KVOE

Several prominent business men, speaking over radio station KVOE, gave reasons this week why the citizens of Santa Ana should vote for a new junior college.

The series of programs, each beginning at 6:15 and each lasting 15 minutes, began Monday and will continue through this evening. The Santa Ana civic committee for a new junior college sponsors these programs.

Dudley Morrison, general chairman of the committee, spoke Monday, followed by Ralph Smedley, local business man, who spoke on Tuesday.

Walter C. Kern, prominent Santa Ana, was Wednesday's speaker, and John H. McCoy, jaysee director, spoke Thursday. Friday's speaker has not yet been announced.

Cheer Leaders Chosen

Camille Hansen and Judy Roberts were chosen song leaders, and Bill Clayton and Lloyd Carr selected as cheer leaders in elections staged during the past week.

Assisting Miss Roberts and Miss Hansen in the song-leading department will be Virginia Allen and Mara Dunlop.

Civic groups, PTA organizations, labor unions, and business leaders of the community continued to rally to the support of the proposed new junior college during the week just passed.

People Told Facts
Word of the coming election was carried to the people through a steady stream of new publicity mediums. Speakers addressed club meetings throughout the city, sparked by junior college student leaders, as business men of the community took to the air over KVOE to stress the need for a new campus.

Bill boards in strategic spots around the city carried the message for a "yes" vote on Oct. 30. Signs for store windows were also distributed and began to be displayed by downtown merchants.

12,000 Pamphlets Out
Bumper signs were ready for distribution and cars were expected to be decorated almost immediately.

Readied for circulation today were almost 12,000 pamphlets which will be mailed to every voter in the community explaining in detail the reasons for a favorable vote on the coming bond election.

Editorial support for the new jaysee was carried in The Independent, Orange Daily News, Tustin News, Los Angeles Times, the high school Generator, and the Don Letter-of-the-Month.

Plans for a giant parade by students was abandoned last week by campaign leaders, but Associated Student officers are still preparing for active student participation in the latter stages of the campaign.

SEVEN CLAIM TITLE OF FIRST DON IN TOKYO

Who was the first Don to enter Tokyo? This question is yet to be answered as there are seven alumni who are possible "winners." Former students contending for first place are Lt. Chuck Hahn and Lt. Walter Hart who are in the Yokohama area; Cpl. Oliver Fletcher who is reported to be in Yokosuka; Bill Sheflin who entered Tokyo harbor aboard the USS Revenge; Capt. Elvin Williamson who is engaged in Signal Corps repair work; and Sgt. Dave

Head and James Borkenhagen both of whom are in Honshu.

Through the Don-letter-of-the-Month, John H. McCoy, jaysee director, has asked each alumni in Japan to send the date of his arrival.

Fight to safeguard education!

Why is there a certain amount of opposition to the building of a new Santa Ana Junior college? The question of education is, in actuality, the controversy. It is foolish even to think of Santa Ana, a city of 40,000 without some branch of higher education represented here.

Jaysee vs. Selfishness

However, there is much being written locally that is degrading to the success of the bond issue. Yet, upon analysis, it can clearly be seen that this propaganda is purely a selfish vindication of those who have no need for a junior college and who eventually create a direct antagonism against education itself.

Certainly in this day and age it is unfathomable to justify any criticism against supporting a new school. There is no attempt to coerce nor burden taxpayers with needless expense. This is not a luxury we ask nor a passing fancy. Education under proper conditions is a necessity.

Hoover Lauds Education

Former President Hoover in a speech made in Los Angeles recently had this to say about education:

"No doubt there are men and women who will rise to leadership without the full help of our college. But our national supply would be poor indeed if we had to depend on this. From the colleges will come a constant stream of young men and women who will refresh our ideas."

Keep America's Power

History shows that education is the impetus of progress. Without it civilization will deteriorate and decay. America has emerged from this war as the most powerful of nations. We must surround this power with knowledge born on the foundation of good education. We must be a wise and just nation of democratic people—people of understanding and intellect—to maintain this position.

CUT COURTESY SANTA ANA REGISTER

Returning home after four years overseas, over two of which were spent in a Japanese prison camp, is Lt. Glen Cave Jr. former Don football star. After graduation from junior college in 1939, Lt. Cave enlisted in the army air corps in February 1941.

Captain Thomas H. Glenn, former head of the English department and journalism instructor at jaysee, is now connected with the English department in the Army University Center at Biarritz, France.

In the university newspaper La Banniere, which is printed in English, Captain Glenn pointed out the enrollment of 3,557 enlisted men and 344 officers. Army nurses make up the only female personnel with 16 registered.

To guide the academic thinking of the student body the Army has assembled a faculty of over 200. There are departments of commerce, science, and liberal arts. In this way, many young men and women who are still serving overseas will have the opportunity of finishing their education.

Appointment of Cpl. Vic Rowland, a graduate of Santa Ana jaysee and past editor of El Don, as a staff writer for the Keesler Field News, weekly publication at Keesler Field, Miss. was announced by the public relations office there this week.

Cpl. Rowland, who started his journalistic career at Frances Willard Junior High School over 13 years ago as the first editor of The Willard Echo, has completed nearly three years in the AAF, 25 months of which were spent as associate editor of the Santa Ana Army Air Base Cadet, and as editor of the Stockton Field Twin Prop.

While attending jaysee, he was charter president of Beta Phi Gamma, journalism fraternity, president of the Press club, was elected president of the Associated Students and his Freshman class.

THE BATTLE FOR A CAMPUS

A brief history:

By DON MCDANIEL

Early in 1941 efforts were made to move Santa Ana Junior college, either to Willard Junior high school, Ross and Washington streets or to Hoover Elementary school on Santa Clara avenue. Both plans however, were rejected as impractical.

In May 1941 the board of education voted 3-2 favor of a new jaysee plant, which was to be constructed on the corner of 15th and Santiago streets. It was to be a campus of 35 acres and the building of shops was to begin immediately upon purchase of the site. Other buildings which were to be constructed as additional land was acquired, were an administration building, a science building, and a gymnasium. A football field and a track were also planned. When the Santa Ana Planning Commission refused to rezone the area decided upon, however, the project was abandoned.

Submit Bids

By September 1941, seven property bids had been submitted to the board of education for alternate site. At the same time, Earl Vinson, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, organized a civic movement with the construction of a new jaysee as its goal. All plans were halted, however, when, in December 1941, the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor.

Launching an editorial campaign in October 1941 Shirley Wright, then editor of El Don, attempted to persuade the citizens of Santa Ana to build a new college. In May 1944, the board of education voted unanimously to improve the junior college housing situation, by constructing a new jaysee.

Immediately the board began a search for an appropriate site. A group of downtown business men met and offered suggestions as to cost and location.

Discuss Plans

Dr. Frank Lindsay, assistant state superintendent of public instruction for junior colleges, and Dr. Charles Bursch, chief of the state division of school house planning, were guests of the board of education in November 1944, when they discussed plans for a new Santa Ana Junior college. Both Dr. Lindsay and Dr. Bursch were of the opinion that Santa Ana could obtain a new plant without the expenditures of large amounts of money.

After prolonged deliberation, the board of education chose a 47 acre site on Bristol and West 17th streets for the new campus. The site was approved by the City Planning Commission and contains nine parcels of land.

Purchase of the new college site was speeded, when in January 1945, the board of education began to direct offers to the owners of the property decided upon. Ralph C. Flewelling, Los Angeles architect, was named to draw up a master plan for campus developments, in June of this year. At this time the board of education was purchasing additional property and decided to put a bond issue to a vote. During the summer months the board made plans to sell the oranges which are located on the site of the new campus. October 30th was the date decided upon for the voting on the bond issue, and Mr. Flewelling's model of the proposed new plant was completed.

Launch Campaign

When the present school year began a campaign was launched immediately to help put over the junior college bond issue. It has been estimated that current freshmen will be able to graduate from the new college if the plan to build is carried out.

The most recent developments in the bond issue campaign are the appointment of Dudley Morrison, prominent business man and civic leader, as general chairman of the civic committee for the new junior college, and the organization of a jaysee alumni group.

The Student Speaks

By DICK SMITH

One angle that hasn't been particularly played up on the plan for a new junior college is the effect it will have on local building construction, and the part that it will play in a nation-wide program of building.

If Santa Ana votes the bond issue through, and we hope it will, the city will be right in tune with the rest of the country as far as peacetime development is concerned. It will also be a great step for providing local workers with jobs.

Employment Improved

"Newsweek" says: "Rapid expansion of the construction industry can do no more than anything else to create new jobs for 4,000, 000 workers."

With erection of the new jaysee Santa Ana will get a share of this money, and the local employment situation will be that much improved.

Materials and Labor

Here's the deal: Naturally, the construction of the new jaysee plant will require a large quantity of materials and labor. Also, the business which is to be erected on the old jaysee site will require materials and labor.

The advent of the colossal new school will make Santa Ana into a college town, attracting many new residents, and some new businesses. These new residents will want homes to live in, and the businesses will want buildings to house their wares. Result: MORE CONSTRUCTION.

Business Gains

Also, a college town has to have decent streets, adequate entertainment, and recreational facilities, as well as business houses to fill the requirements of the large number of students residing in or commuting to, the city. In order to fill this demand there will have to be MORE CONSTRUCTION.

Once Santa Ana has taken such a progressive step in the building of the new junior college, it will undoubtedly make other vast improvements, as the needs of the city become apparent. For once the ball of progress is rolling, it won't stop. When a community finally emerges from the rut it has been in for years, it usually keeps marching ahead.

Federal Subsidy Seen

And the tax-payer of Santa Ana won't have to foot the full bill on the junior college and resulting developments. For one of the main goals of the Truman Administration is full employment, and enough public works to make this possible. Therefore, federal subsidy, and probably state subsidy to local public works, is inevitable.

Finally, it can be said that the erection of the new jaysee will result in more and more construction, both public and private, causing the local building boom to become an avalanche which will provide more business and employment than this has ever seen.

Art, music and public speaking building of the proposed new junior college.

Campus straw vote reveals library is proper memorial for Don heroes lost in war

When the new Santa Ana junior college campus is laid out, the majority of students who participated in a recent El Don poll suggest that a library would be a fitting dedication to former Dons who gave their lives in World War II. A swimming pool was the second choice in the tabulation while the remainder of the possibilities shaped up in the following order: athletic field, student gymnasium, and little theater.

A variety of opinions prevailed in the voting as each student had a certain idea of what he considered most suitable. The following are representative reasons from various members of the associated students.

"I believe that the library should be dedicated to the men from SAJC who gave their lives in the war because in the library we can read of their exploits in the war and keep it as a constant reminder of why the building was so dedicated. We can always come back and find that is was our classmates who helped to win the war." . . . Violet Gatlin, Santa

Ana. "I think the swimming pool would be appropriate. Most of the men were active athletics and would have enjoyed the pool if they had been here." . . . Bill Tolin, Tustin.

"The athletic field would be a perfect place. The youth of the nation died on a field of battle, and the field would be a reminder of those men who not so long ago gave their lives on a more earnest battlefield." . . . Margery Williams, Laguna Beach.

"The student union would be my choice as the fellows who died didn't represent any particular phase of student activity and the student union would be for all to enjoy." . . . Gene Edwards, Santa Ana.

"I feel that the fellows in the service would rather have a gymnasium dedicated to their memory for it is in constant use by the students and is always prominently mentioned in connection with college activities." . . . Bob Perryman, ex-sergeant, Santa Ana.

TO DISPLAY MODEL

On display in the library Monday and Tuesday will be the model of the proposed new junior college. Ralph C. Flewelling, Los Angeles architect completed the model last summer, and it has since been displayed in Santa Ana.

Women's clubs send bids

Acceptance parties Thursday

Terminating a week of rush activities, women's service clubs Las Gitanas, Las Meninas, Piloteers, and Spinsters sent out bids to new members on Tuesday of this week.

Acceptance parties scheduled for Thursday night, Oct. 25 include a barbecue at Santiago park for pledges of Spinsters, while Las Gitanas is entertaining new members with a buffet supper at the home of Mary Olive Tozier.

Creating a Spanish touch, the Piloteers meet new members for a Spanish dinner at La Fonda.

Milford Dahl heads alumni group; meet to discuss plans

For the purpose of discussing and making suggestions on how to further the bond issue campaign, the newly organized Santa Ana Junior college alumni group will meet Oct. 25 under the direction of Milford W. Dahl, who was elected acting chairman at the first meeting of the club.

Working with Mr. Dahl is a committee of seven former Dons and Donas, who will complete the organization of the club and will make periodic reports to the entire group on the progress of the bond issue campaign. Those alumni are Jack Shanafelt, Anita Potter Clark, June Tway Engleman, Tom Engleman, Jean Zabel, Laurence Bemis, and Grace Bemis. The group has a total membership of 48.

Don-letter-of-month enters third year

As the Don Letter-of-the-Month enters the third year of circulation, John H. McCoy, director of Santa Ana Junior college and correspondent for the letter, announced the possibility that in the near future an alumni publication may take the place of the monthly news sheet.

Subject clubs form next week

Organization and election of officers will be the order of the day when the Press club, under the direction of John H. Duke, journalism instructor, holds its first meeting of the semester Monday at noon in BL.

All students interested in journalism are invited to attend the meeting, which will be in session for only ten minutes.

Alpha Rho Tau, art club will reorganize this year under the leadership of Miss Francis Egge, it was learned today.

The purpose of the Alpha Rho Tau is to organize the students who are interested in the study of art and its appreciation.

Reopening this year of Alpha Mu Gamma, international language society, is to be determined by the number of students interested and having the ability to meet the requirements for membership.

Between the Halves

By DICK REISH
Sports Editor

One of the most important publicity acts that Santa Ana Junior college can carry on to aid the coming bond issue is via the gridiron. Many citizens of this community know very little about our jaysee, and the only connection they have with it is watching the Dons battle it out on the turf of the Santa Ana bowl. Therefore, a good football team this season may influence greatly the future of this institution.

To have a good football team the boys who make up that team must be eligible. Most of them have not been studying very hard, if at all. Instead they are counting on the instructors to keep them eligible through the season. The poor instructors will, of course, try their best to do this, but not if the team isn't even going to give a try at their textbooks. It's up to each individual to do his part to help give Santa Ana Junior college a football team to be proud of, and not the instructors.

In the long run, when the bond issue passes, the fact that Santa Ana will have a modern, up-to-date educational plant will attract many students from more distant localities than Orange or Laguna Beach. And among those new students will be found many first class gridiron players. Greater football teams mean greater gate receipts at the bowl, and thus the city will directly get back part of the money loaned out on the new jaysee. Also the many fans who flock to this city to watch the games usually eat somewhere in the community and spend a few other dollars here and there.

There are certain other things at our football games which also affect some of the voters. First among these is enthusiasm, something which didn't even show up for last Thursday's game here. I'll bet many Santa Ana citizens wondered whether it was worth it or not even to go down to the polls for a bunch of students with such poor spirit as the Don rooters showed the other night. The yell-leader candidates tried their best to get some noise out of the rooting section, but there was no reply.

San Berdoo is a long ways away, but if quite a few students show up for the game, and they can if they want to, and yell when Bill Clayton and Lloyd Carr tell them to, we stand a better than even chance of whipping our toughest opponents.

Floating around jaysee somewhere is supposed to be a band. Many students think that the band should be well enough organized to be able to play at the games. Even Chaffey brought a small band all the way down here last week. Surely we should be able to field a band when San Berdoo returns here next month for the next home game.

Well, so much for what we did wrong last week.

MILLER, MYREHN STAR AS LOCALS SKIN CHAFFEY PANTHERS 12-0

Led by backs Don Miller and Paul Myrehn, the 1945 Dons broke into the football season with a 12-0 decision over a spunky Chaffey eleven.

The locals scored both touchdowns in the second period. After an anybody's game start, quarterback Don Miller finally started the Santa Ana ball rolling near the end of the first quarter with a 21-yard breakaway to the Panther 47.

Myrehn Scores

After five more plays had passed the Dons had made their way on downs to the Chaffey 24. A pass, from Miller to Gene Scarbrough on the 3-yard line put the Panthers with their backs to the wall. Myrehn scored a moment later and Horace Snow was unable to tally the extra point.

Not long after Miller returned a punt to midfield, after which he passed to Don Rehm on the Chaffey 39 yard strip. Myrehn then galloped to another first down on the Panther 27. Another aerial blow, this time to Ralph Reeder, placed the ball down on the Chaffey 11. It was Myrehn who again went over for the locals on an end run. Tom Kilker's attempt to convert was wide.

Fumble Halts Drive

The Dons looked like they might be on their way twice in the closing minutes of the game also. Bill Flanagan started them moving with a 17-yard dash around left end from deep in Don territory, and the next play Chuck Schlegel broke away for a 26-yard gallop around right end before he fumbled and ended the threat. Just before the final gun went off, Bob Perryman intercepted a Panther pass deep in Chaffey territory, but the Dons didn't have time to take advantage of the situation.

Both the Don running and passing attacks proved to be quite successful, the locals chalking up eight first downs on the ground and an additional six through the air, while Chaffey could only make three all together. Santa Ana, however, did not seem to be able to hold on to the ball quite as well as the invaders, fumbling five times as against only two for the Panthers.

Plenty of Subs

Coach Bill Cook gave every player a chance to see action. Substitutes for the local eleven were Keith Perriraz, Max Krisher, Ralph Reeder and Jack Craven at end; Joe Ingram and Eldon Winterbourne at tackle; Charles Nash, Ronald Schroeder, Turk Dennis, Chuck Grow and Bob Frazee at guards; center Don Kelchner; and backs Bill Flannagan, Chuck Schlegel, Eugene Stoddard, Tom Speich, Jack Stanley, Bob Perryman, Wendell Losh, Gene Cairns, Jack Matsuda, Bill Scott, Tom Kilker, and Roger Neth.

DON SPORTS

Dons Meet San Berdoo Tonight

Santa Anans try for second win in conference

BENGALS, DONS CLASH NEXT WEEK

Next week Santa Ana's Dons will travel to Riverside for their third conference game with the Riverside Bengals. The game will be played next Friday at eight p. m.

Riverside, returning to the gridiron this season after a war-time letup in the sport, will probably turn out to be slightly stronger than the Chaffey Panther eleven which the locals downed last week 12-0. It is rumored here that they have shown considerable strength in scrimmages with other colleges.

The Dons will probably go into the Riverside game a heavier outfit than when they came out of the San Berdoo fray, for some of the ineligible will no doubt have returned to the squad by that time.

As Riverside will be stronger than Chaffey and the Dons probably a little weaker in manpower, the game promises to be one of the most evenly matched contests of the season.

VICTORY FLAG

Proclaiming the first Don in the current pig-skin season, the SAJC victory flag flies triumphantly on the pole near college hall.

The defeat of the Chaffey Panthers by the Don eleven warranted the raising of the red and black initialed flag which will remain flying as long as jaysee "senors" continue to bring home the bacon.

Don of the Week

Vanderma's has announced that the first week's contest to choose the Don of the Week has resulted in Paul Myrehn, fullback of the jaysee grid squad, receiving the honor. Don Miller, spunky quarterback, was the runner up. Myrehn scored both Don touchdowns against Chaffey.

Girls' Sports

Climaxing a month of preparation basketball classes in the women's P.E. department are now competing in inter-class games.

Under the direction of Mrs. Shirley Bradisse, physical education instructor, the classes have been divided into red, blue, and yellow teams. Emphasis is placed on rules so that each girl will have the chance to officiate in one or more games during the year.

Badminton classes have progressed in a similar fashion and a great interest has been noted.

PAST RECORDS REVEAL EDGE OVER BRAVES

San Bernardino's Indians and the Dons have met 12 times in the past, during which time the Santa Anans were victorious on nine occasions, the San Berdoos on three, and one contest ending in a scoreless deadlock. The first game was in 1926 and resulted in a lop sided victory for the Indians. The last three games saw the Dons come out on top by overwhelming scores. Here's a record of the past contests.
